Despite challenging global markets and a troubling economic climate this year the Joanna Briggs Institute and Collaboration has continued to grow and remained active internationally. This has been a significant achievement. We have carefully steered a course that has ensured our stability and our ability to grow in the future.

The Institute is an organisation focused on building membership value. It has also proven itself to be an organisation focused on visioning the future, even in times of difficulty. It has continued to strive for original and creative solutions, making strategic investments in research and innovation to meet these ends.

International interest in the Institute’s activities has not slowed and we continue to successfully navigate the myriad of complex and demanding challenges associated with such expansion with determination and sensitivity. Awareness of the Joanna Briggs Collaboration is stronger than ever with groups from across the world indicating a desire to work with the Institute to further evidence-based health in their region.

Membership has remained steady and while there has been a small reduction in membership renewals new members continue to join on a regular and steady basis. We remain confident that the potential for future international market expansion is both realistic and achievable.

We are excited about the progress being made towards moving the Institute from the Department of Health South Australia to the University of Adelaide. We believe that this move will further stabilise our position and enable us to continue to drive long-term growth and pursue new opportunities for research and innovation.

As a global provider of knowledge resources our strategy during the last year has been to focus on essential services while maintaining incremental growth. This has enabled us to remain flexible enough to consider new international opportunities as they have arisen.

Our focus remains on ensuring the stability and longevity of the Institute and Collaboration moving forward. I believe we are not only well placed to continue to grow but also to maintain and improve membership service provision.

I record the Committee of Management’s warm appreciation for the vision and leadership provided over the period by the Executive Director and its admiration for the dedication and outstanding contribution of all staff associated with the Institute.
The Institute is an organisation focused on building membership value. It has also proven itself to be an organisation focused on visioning the future, even in times of difficulty.
By any measure, 2008/9 has been a challenging and extraordinary time.
FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

PROFESSOR ALAN PEARSON AM

By any measure, 2008/9 has been a challenging and extraordinary time. Like many organisations across the globe we have been faced with managing our activity in difficult economic circumstances. We have had some big wins and some equally big challenges and while it is tempting to offer a long list of these I will focus on some core achievements and highlights.

Despite experiencing some challenges, the Institute has not only managed to sustain current activity and maintain resources, but launch new and improved services for members, not least of which has been the release of JBI COmNECT+. The launch of this latest version has seen us respond to specific member feedback and provide additional new features and design to enable a more streamlined and effective product.

During the last 12 months we have confirmed our commitment to the provision of strong education and training programs in evidence-based health with the launch of the Master of Clinical Science in Evidence Based Healthcare through the University of Adelaide. The course, designed to equip students with a firm understanding of research methodologies and techniques associated with evidence-based healthcare, is long awaited and has already received significant interest.

The Joanna Briggs Foundation was established this year to support those wishing to improve global health outcomes through the provision of high quality, evidence-based information and resources to health professionals across the world. Specifically, it seeks to support evidence-based activities in low-income economies and we hope that it might facilitate opportunities for the Institute to extend its work in regions we have not been able to reach effectively before.

Although not specifically JBI activity, the launch of the Cochrane Nursing Care Field was a significant achievement this year and has progressed quickly and with considerable interest from the nursing profession internationally. We have been equally excited, as we have been overwhelmed, by the scope of work this has generated.

Our events in the last 18 months have been as impressive as ever. Our major events (the Colloquium, held in Cordoba, Spain in 2008 and the Convention, held in Adelaide in 2009) once again attracted high quality international speakers and delegates from around the world. Equally, I am proud to say that the National Conference held in Adelaide in early 2009 was also a vibrant, energetic and unique event and will become a regular event on the JBI calendar.

As we look to the future we hope to continue to make unique contributions to the evidence-based healthcare environment by tapping into the creativity, expertise and enthusiasm of our staff in Adelaide, our international collaboration, our membership and other key partners across the globe.
OVERVIEW

INTRODUCING

THE JOANNA BRIGGS INSTITUTE

Our Organisation

Established in 1996 as a joint initiative of Royal Adelaide Hospital and the University of Adelaide, the Joanna Briggs Institute strives to develop not only an evidential basis for clinical practice, but also strategies to assist health professionals to achieve evidence-based practice at the point of care.

We specialise in the production of information and resources that promote and support evidence-based healthcare and the improvement of global health outcomes. Solutions designed and developed specifically for health professionals, health researchers and healthcare consumers by the Institute are not only world class, they are often world firsts.

The Institute has cultivated international partnerships that contribute to the development and maintenance of quality healthcare globally. These initiatives are intended to support and engage those who work in and use health systems across the world in evidence-based healthcare.

Our Goals

Vision

Evidence-based Best Practice as a central characteristic of all health services.

Mission

To be the leader in producing, disseminating and providing a framework for the use of qualitative and quantitative evidence to inform clinical decision making to improve health outcomes globally.

Role

To identify feasible, appropriate, meaningful and effective healthcare practices and healthcare outcomes by facilitating international collaboration between collaborating centres, groups and expert researchers, clinicians and members of the Institute through:

- developing methods to appraise and synthesis evidence, conducting systematic reviews and analyses of the research literature (evidence synthesis)
- globally disseminating information in diverse formats to inform health systems, health professionals and consumers (evidence transfer)
- facilitating the effective implementation of evidence and the evaluation of its impact on healthcare practice and health outcomes (evidence utilisation)
Our People
The Joanna Briggs Institute team in Adelaide is a dynamic and innovative group of highly motivated professionals with a shared desire to learn and stretch beyond their limits. G-I-N Satellite Symposium, A world of difference: Putting a qualitative stamp on evidence synthesis

1 October 2008, Helsinki, Finland
The Institute hosted this symposium in order to draw together international perspectives on qualitative synthesis. A range of high profile international experts presented during the symposium and the day provided a rewarding and robust overview of current issues around qualitative synthesis, including critical appraisal and data extraction, as well as addressing implications for guideline and policy development.

6th Biennial Joanna Briggs Colloquium, Eliminating borders of knowledge

12-15 November 2008, Cordoba, Spain
The Colloquium was hosted by the Spanish Centre for Evidence Based Nursing in association with the 12th International Nursing Research Conference. The event provided an excellent opportunity for Centres to showcase their work and their unique context. It was also a chance for health professionals, academics and managers to share their experiences of evidence-based healthcare and participate in networking activities.

National Australian Conference Evidence-based Clinical Leadership: The perfect blend of evidence and practice

27-29 May 2009, Adelaide, Australia
The first National Australian Conference was indeed a perfect blend of evidence and practice, with delegates from Australia and overseas attending to share their experiences of working toward improving techniques and methods of getting evidence into practice. Special guest speaker and Olympic swimming legend Dawn Fraser was impressed by the enthusiasm and dedication of presenters and in awe of the work they do every day.

JBI International Convention, Ripples to Revolution: From Bench to Bedside

18-20 November 2009, Adelaide, Australia
The third JBI International Convention was another outstanding international event with delegates travelling from across the globe to attend. This year saw a program “with a difference” as distinct symposia were run during the Convention relating to a broad range of topics and disciplines. International speakers included the eminent Sir Muir Gray, Professor Paul Glasziou and Jeremy Wyatt to name but a few.

The Joanna Briggs Oration, titled “Musings from the Marsh” was given by Professor Robin Watts AM, the longest serving Centre Director of the Joanna Briggs Collaboration. Her stirring oration was well received by delegates and provided much food for thought.

Several social events were also incorporated in the program including an international welcome reception hosted by the Centre for Evidence Based Practice South Australia and an impressive gala dinner.

The Nursing Voice in Policy Making – Symposium

7 September, Adelaide, Australia
Jane Salvage, a nurse, sociologist and journalist from the United Kingdom, ran an exclusive, one time only symposium at the National Wine Centre this year. Jane’s prominent international profile and considerable experience made her an attractive speaker to nurses from all levels and the symposium was a great success.

Education & Training

Course development

Course development has been a major focus this year, with all courses now drafted (with the exception of patient safety). These will be finalised and copy sent to the Advisory Board of Studies by early December.

Advisory Board of Studies

The JBI Advisory Board of Studies advises the Institute on the quality of:

- The curriculum, content, delivery, assessment, moderation and certificating of JBI education programs; and

- The broad features of the curriculum, assessment and moderation of new programs of study that might in future be developed.

MASTER OF CLINICAL SCIENCE

The Master of Clinical Science (MClinSc) is a postgraduate degree offered by the Faculty of Sciences of the University of Adelaide. The aim of this degree – within the field of evidence-based healthcare supervised by staff of JBI – is to train students in research methodologies and techniques associated with evidence-based healthcare and in the critical evaluation of the evidence review and research carried out.

JBI offers the degree program in Evidence-based Healthcare at both the Adelaide and Singapore campuses of The University of Adelaide. The MClinSc is a research degree with two intensive weeks of coursework, which constitute part of the structured program of the degree. The structured program must be complete within six months of enrolment. The MClinSc must be completed two years from the date of enrolment. Candidates who have satisfactorily completed their first year of the degree may be considered for an upgrade or transfer to the PhD, subject to approval by the Board of Graduate Studies of the University.

ENROLMENTS

- Currently there are seven students enrolled in the MClinSc from July 2009.
- For the February 2010 intake there have been 20 enquiries for enrolment in Adelaide.
- For the June 2010 intake there have been 6 enquiries.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SERVICES

JBI CONNECT+

All expert systems contained in JBI CONNECT were re-developed this year and were re-launched in November 2009 as JBI CONNECT+. This has included a re-build of systems such as PACES and Manual Builder.

JBI CONNECT+ includes full integration of MeSH from the National Library of Medicine, and allows external source searching in the advanced search pages. Linkage to journals and articles has been improved. Search results now appear in tabs based on the type of document.

The manual builder has been completely re-built and re-designed according to response from corporate members.

PACES and PACESmobile are fully functional, and have received positive feedback from members since their launch prior to the previous report in March.

JBI CONNECT+ includes real time translation of documents and the visual interface through an inbuilt system.

JBI CONNECT+ can be coded for integration with electronic clinical records, will be able to provide RSS feeds, email alerts and enable a high level of local control of editable content.

JBI CONNECT+ enables nodes external to JBI to develop and upload content in real time for review and approval in JBI without the need for third party software systems.

JBI CONNECT+ grants members the ability to organise their membership, by creating users for JBI CONNECT+ and assigning different permissions, along with monitoring statistics and usage of JBI CONNECT+.

CONSUMER PAMPHLET BUILDER

New system development also occurred during this time with the development of Consumer Pamphlet Builder. This system is designed to enable health professionals to build and customise consumer information sheets to suit their specific needs.
